Cornerstone Placed For EUB Church

THE cornerstone for the new Saint Peter's Brick Church, Evangelical United Brethren, was laid by Dr. O. A. Hayden, former Conference Superintendent, in ceremonies at Saylorsburg Sunday afternoon.

The $56,000 church replaces the historical "Brick Church" that stood in Saylorsburg from 1856 until 1959. Work was begun on the new church earlier this year.

Dr. Hayden, Rev. Warren Loesch, of the Board of Missions E. U. B., and Saylorsburg Pastor Rev. Harold L. Ulmer presided over the cornerstone laying ceremony.

The building will contain a sanctuary to seat 95 persons, a foyer with adjoining washrooms, a large Sunday School room, a kitchen, a bell tower, and a basement and furnace room.

The new church is designed for the future expansion of both the sanctuary and Sunday School room. The roof structure will be of laminated wood beams and wood decking finished in its natural state.

Formal dedication will be in November. Bishop Hermann W. Kaebnick will be the speaker.

British Pubs Try Drink Meters

CARLE, England (AP) — Fourteen public houses owned by the British government are installing drink meters to tell car drivers when they've had enough.

The meters test reaction speeds. The driver drops a coin in the meter, then tries to stop the coin by pressing a button.

If he can stop it in less than .12 of a second he gets the coin back. If not, he loses the coin—and gets a warning that his reactions have slowed up.

The machines are approved by Britain's Royal Society for Prevention of Accidents, though not by some police officers.

Sidney Ballance, chief constable of neighboring Barrow-in-Furness, called them a menace. He said they would encourage drivers to drink more to test their capacity.

Some people doubt the drink meters' efficiency. Peter Johnson, a young Royal Air Force officer, wrote to the Observer Sunday to say he and several other young pilots tried out the machines and found their reactions improving as they had more to drink.

Keystone Demos Down Charge

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Democratic State Administration took issue Sunday with political inferences that the reason the legislature is lingering around Harrisburg is to watch out for financial skulduggery.

Dr. David H. Kurtzman, secretary of administration, acknowledged in an interview that such scuttling was going around.

But Kurtzman said, "The whole thing is ridiculous."

Ike Returns From Pretty Good Journey

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower returned Sunday from a "pretty good" Far Eastern trip, as he described it, and promptly turned to a backlog of government business.

While still at the airport, Eisenhower arranged with Vice President Richard M. Nixon and other members of his official family a Cabinet meeting probably to be held Monday.

Then he went to the White House to catch some rest and put finishing touches on the 6:30-7 p.m. EST radio-TV report he will make to the nation Monday night on his two-week, 23,000-mile journey to three Asian countries.

The President was reported prepared to picture as a success his goodwill visits to the Philippines, Formosa, Korea and U.S.-held Okinawa, and to blame the cancellation of his Japan stop on the Communists. He also was reported primed to defend administration foreign policy actions against mounting criticism from Democrats.

In Washington The big orange-and-silver military jet transport plane carrying the presidential party touched down at Andrews Air Force Base at 9 a.m. after a 10-hour, 600 m.p.h. flight from Honolulu with a refueling stopover at Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

Eisenhower, who spent the last six days golfing and relaxing in Hawaii en route home, was tanned and jovial as he alighted from the plane.

The chief executive shook hands and exchanged greetings with the welcoming delegation of about 50 top officials including Nixon, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and diplomats representing the countries he had just visited.

House recently called attention of colleagues to the fact that checks they had issued in mid-April to pay the 4 per cent auto sales tax had not cleared their respective banks in their May statements.

This gave rise to Republican reports that the Administration was "holding back" credits so they could be used for pay raises or political bookkeeping after the Legislature left town.

Far From Truth

Kurtzman declared that nothing could be farther from the truth.

As for pay raises, he said this was an executive function provided for in the Administrative Code and could be carried out by the governor whether the Legislature was in session or not.

As for using any uncredited funds as matching money for possible federal aid to education—if and when Washington should provide it—Kurtzman said such legislation, even if needed, would be outside the scope of the 1960 Legislature.

This session, under a constitutional amendment adopted last year, must confine its business to the budget and tax revenues. Since the regular 1959 Legislature adopted a biennial budget—the last in history under present Pennsylvania law—running through May 31, 1961, that left the first annual budget session with nothing to do but play political games.

The Democrats want the lawmakers to quit and go home. The Republicans say they want to stay around and keep an eye on the Administration. Not to be outdone, Gov. Lawrence this week called off a scheduled trip to Montana to attend the annual Governors' Conference. He wants to keep an eye on the Legislature, which returns for another session tomorrow.

Delays Do Occur In answer to the two representatives' complaints about delays in processing their checks, Kurtzman said that it was conceivable that such delays do occur, many of them.

He explained that under present bookkeeping procedures, it takes nine days to process an application for a title to ownership of a car, which must be accompanied by a check in payment of the auto sales tax. In addition, there may be further delays in the banking process before the cancelled check gets back to the payer.

Rocky Refuses To Join GOP Pledge For Nixon

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller refused Sunday to join other Republican governors in a written pledge of "full and loyal support" for Vice President Richard M. Nixon's presidential bid.

A maneuver to sign the GOP governors to the Nixon loyalty oath was designed primarily to put Rockefeller on the spot. The New York governor politely parried the attempt to lure him definitely into the Nixon camp. Rockefeller told a subsequent news conference he wasn't going to sign up.

"I saw the sheet," he said with a smile, "but I'm the chairman of an uncommitted delegation (at the Republican Convention). Therefore it would not be appropriate."

He said he thinks there is "every likelihood, every chance," Nixon will capture the nomination and that "I'm not unkindly disposed" able to him.

Johnson Resorting From Democratic ranks at the annual conference of governors, Gov. G. Mennen Williams injected a question whether Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) is resorting in effect to legislative blackmail in order to promote his own chances for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Williams told a news conference he had been told Johnson had threatened to torpedo a medical health bill for oldsters if Williams came out for Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the nomination.

The Michigan governor, answering a question, said he was not charging Johnson with "legislative blackmail" but "I assume he used what weapons are available to him."

Firing back, Gov. Price Daniel of Texas, a Johnson supporter, described the Williams story as "a pure political fabrication."

Daniel told a news conference he is confident Johnson made no such threat and expressed surprise that Williams would give credence to a report of this nature.

Hadn't Checked

Daniel said he hadn't checked Johnson, on the report and wouldn't do so because "it would be an insult to call him up and ask him if he did it."

"As a matter of fact," Daniel said, "Sen. Johnson has been leaning over backwards not to use his position as majority leader of the Senate to embarrass the party or the country. He wouldn't support or oppose any legislation on the basis of what his actions might do to advance him politically."

These were the major sideline developments at the annual conference of governors here in the rugged Rockies.

The round robin petition to pledge Republican executives to the Nixon cause was sparked by Govs. Harold W. Handley of Indiana and J. Hugo Aronson of Montana.

At the same time, Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois raised a call to all Republicans—Rockefeller among them—to stop quibbling, close ranks, and support Nixon wholeheartedly.

Williams and Stratton held news conferences.

At Tail End

The pitch to get Rockefeller's name on the loyalty oath to Nixon was made at the tail end of a meeting of the executive committee of the governors' conference, which opened for preliminary business Sunday.

Rockefeller, Handley, Aronson and two other Republican governors were clustered at a table at one end of the hotel dining room.

Handley reached into an inside coat pocket, pulled out the paper bearing the names of a string of other Republican governors, and handed it to Rockefeller.

Berlin Becoming Dying City

BERLIN (AP) — Isolated, Communist-surrounded West Berlin voiced alarm Sunday about a slow but steady drop in its permanent population.

"Berlin is a dying city," proclaimed West Berlin's independent, mass circulation BZ newspaper. "Berlin needs fresh blood."

Since 1958, when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev demanded that Western troops get out of West Berlin, the city's population of 2,200,000 has dropped more than 20,000. Most of these people have moved to West Germany.

Commenting on this trend, West Berlin's police superintendent, Joachim Lipschitz, disclosed city hall is thinking of slashing red tape involving German residence permits.

He said the city government is debating whether to eliminate the requirement that any would-be resident must first obtain a permit.

Although this applies to both East and West Germans, it is directed mostly against East German refugees, who still are streaming into West Berlin at the rate of several thousand a week. Under legal agreements with West Germany, the city is required to take only 6.5 per cent of these refugees. The remainder are airlifted to West Germany, where most are quickly absorbed by the booming economy.

Even though West Berlin has been accepting refugees as permanent citizens, the city still is losing population. Permanent residents are leaving faster than they can be replaced by new residents from West Germany or by the quota of refugees. The exodus has been particularly noticeable in the professional class—architects, engineers and writers.

Would Not Gone Alone

"If they really wanted to demonstrate and stand up to Eisenhower," the American President would not have gone it alone in torpedoing the meeting. If they had dissociated themselves from the doctrine and if the Americans had promised not to continue with the policy of this doctrine, the summit meeting would have taken place.

Khrushchev really wanted the summit meeting," he said.

Asked about rumors in the Western world that his political star was waning because he had been out of the news for a time, he answered: "You know more about that than I. I certainly have not heard anything of it. I am an old man—the is 64—and even I have a right to a vacation. If I did not take my vacation I would die very soon, and then I would really disappear from public life without leaving any grounds for guessing."

Torrential Downpours Flood Middle Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Torrential downpours ranging up to almost two feet Sunday flooded a wide section of the middle Texas coast and forced thousands of residents in low-lying areas to evacuate their homes.

At least three persons died as a result of the steady downpours produced by a tropical disturbance which moved inland from the Gulf of Mexico late Thursday.

UN In Danger Of Outgrowing 'HQ'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations, 15 years old Sunday, is getting so many new members it is in danger of outgrowing its 66½-million-dollar headquarters.

The General Assembly hall and main committee rooms of the big house of glass overlooking New York's East River—opened less than 10 years ago—were planned to hold 70 national delegations.

There are now 82 member countries. Twelve more are expected to be voted in next fall. Officials estimate the membership eventually could hit 120.

Seats are being installed in the Assembly hall for 13 extra delegations. That is about all it can hold.

Architects are trying to figure out how the headquarters could be remodeled to take 120. The New York City firm of Harrison & Abramovitz is making this survey.

Africa Surge

The growing pains result from a sudden surge of independence in Africa.

The Security Council will meet Tuesday to recommend U.N. membership for Mali in West Africa, a federation of the former French colonies of Senegal and Sudan which became independent last Monday.

It probably will meet again Wednesday to do the same for the Malagasy Republic—Madagascar—which gained independence from France Sunday.

The East African colony of British Somaliland also has become independent. Next Friday the neighboring Italian U.N. trust territory of Somalia, formerly called Somaliland, will get independence and the two will merge.

Thursday, the Belgian Congo will be transformed into the Congo Republic. Somalia and the Congo are likely to win the Council's recommendation next week.

Two former French trust territories in West Africa, Cameroon and Togo, got that approval earlier in the year. Dahomey, the Ivory Coast, Niger and the Upper Volta are expected to get it after they cut loose from France in August.

The British colony of Cyprus in the eastern Mediterranean also will become independent in the next few months, if a controversy over eventual disposition of British bases there can be settled.

11 New Countries

That makes 11 new countries that the General Assembly probably will vote into the U.N. on the Security Council's recommendations when the Assembly convenes its 1960 session Sept. 20. A 12th new member will be added after Nigeria becomes free of Britain Oct. 1.

The U.N. had 51 original members. Fifty signed the Charter in San Francisco 15 years ago Sunday. Poland was allowed to sign later as an original member.

Car Goes Out Of Control Smashes Into E-Burg Home

A CAR DRIVEN by Miss Nicole Kennedy, 19, 21 N. Green St., East Stroudsburg, went out of control at 4:15 Sunday morning and smashed into the front porch of the C. W. Steen home at 68 East Broad St., East Stroudsburg.

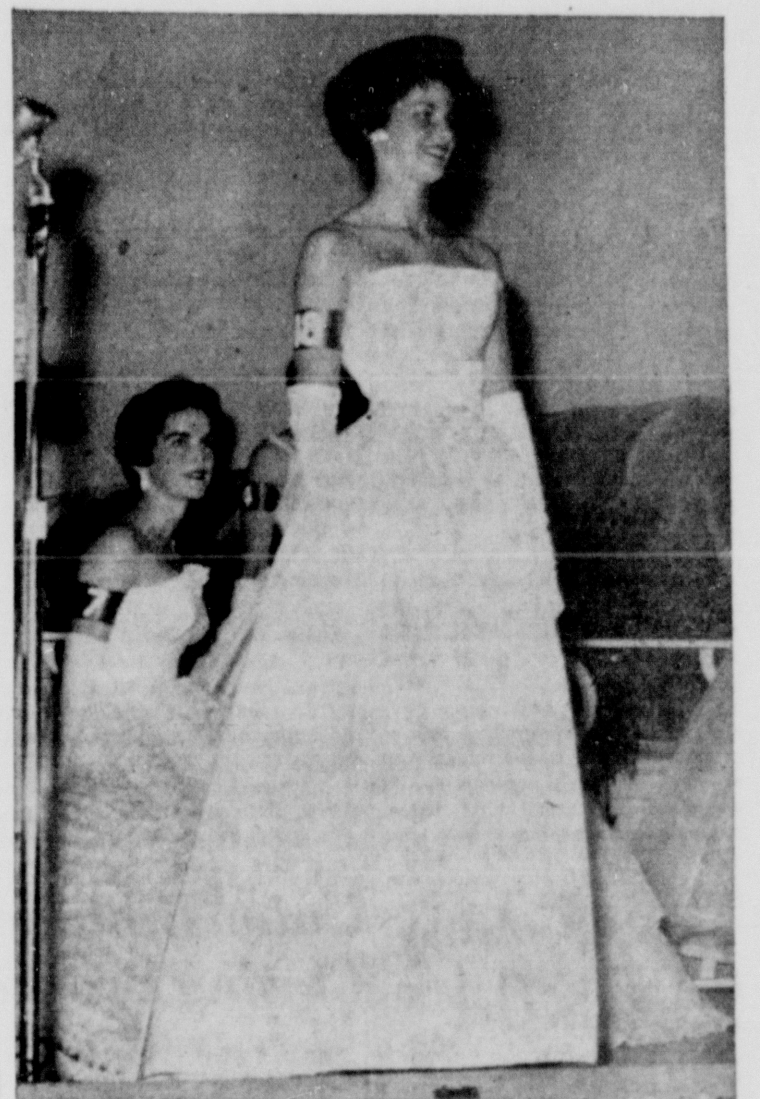

The '53 Cadillac convertible was traveling north on N. Green St. when it jumped the curb and tore through the front porch, damaging the porch, the front wall of the house, storm windows, siding, and portions of the front lawn.

The car, owned by Thomas and Marie Cavanaugh of 21 N. Green St., was a total loss, according to East Stroudsburg police.

Miss Kennedy is suffering from large bruises on her forehead and right thigh, and multiple cuts and lacerations.

UP OVER THE CURB—and across the lawn and into the porch of the home of C. W. Steen, 68 E. Broad St., East Stroudsburg, went this car driven by Miss Nicole Kennedy, 19, of 21 N. Green St., East Stroudsburg, yesterday at 4:10 a.m. when she lost control of the vehicle at the intersection of Green and East Broad Sts., East Stroudsburg. (Staff photo by Shafer)

Shillington Girl Miss Pennsylvania

WEST CHESTER, Pa. — For 13-year-old Priscilla Mae Hendricks, a green-eyed beauty from Shillington, it was a dream come true. The Miss Greater Reading was named Miss Pennsylvania Saturday night from among five finalists.

"I suppose every girl has the dream of winning this contest but it sure turns out a surprise when you come out No. 1," she said shortly after the crowning ceremonies.

Failed To Place

(Miss Joan Hinsdale, a student at East Stroudsburg State College, who participated in the pageant as Miss Pocono Mountains, failed to place among the finalists.

(Mrs. Robert Miller, director of the Miss Pocono Mountains pageant, who accompanied Miss Hinsdale to West Chester, said last night that Miss Pocono Mountains made a favorable impression on judges and the public alike during the pageant.

(Mrs. Miller agreed with the judges who chose Miss Greater Reading as Miss Pennsylvania.)

Miss Lois Janet Piercy, last year's Miss Pennsylvania, placed the crown on Miss Hendricks' brown hair as 1,000 persons watched at the West Chester High School auditorium. Her talent in the pageant was her art work.

Miss Hendricks, who is 5-7, weighs 128 and measures 36-24-35, will receive a $1,000 scholarship and various other prizes in addition to representing Pennsylvania in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City in September.

And she vowed that "I'll do my best for Pennsylvania."

But at the same time she pointed out that she will go through with her plans to study veterinary medicine by entering the University of Pennsylvania in 1961 after touring the state this year, something to which she is committed to as Miss Pennsylvania.

Miss Hendricks attended Simmons College for two years and the study of veterinary medicine is also "a dream" of hers.

Wonderful Experience She said the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant was "a very wonderful experience although I imagine there are many more to come."

The runnerup was Eleanor Frances Johnson, 19, of Rheems, who was Miss Lancaster County. She is a freshman at Elizabethtown.

The three other finalists were Miss Centre County, Linda Allee Lane, 21, of Pittsburgh, a student at Penn State; Miss Clarion County, Annabella Frances Marcin, 18, of Ford City, a former Miss Clarion State College; and Miss Cumberland Valley, Sandra Lee Vogelsanger, 18, of Shippensburg, who enters Westminster College this fall.

Mary Louise Ellis, 19, of Conneaut Lake, who entered the pageant as Miss Crawford County, was named Miss Congeniality, a selection made by the other girls in the Miss Pennsylvania competition.

Dear Abby

I Could Write A Book

Dear Abby: Please print your opinion of parents who come to visit their married children without an invitation and when they feel like it. The only advance notice we ever get is, "We are dying to see the grandchildren."

My husband and I have been annoyed by these spur-of-the-moment visits from his parents and mine. No sooner does one set leave when the other set shows up. Don't you think parents should realize that if they were wanted they would be invited? Just because our children happen to be their grandchildren seems to be a pretty poor excuse for barging in.

IMPOSED UPON
Dear Imposed Upon: Do you need an invitation to visit your parents' home? I doubt it. Most parents make it plain that THEIR home is THEIR CHILDREN'S home. And many parents have kept their large homes in spite of the added work and expense so their children and grandchildren may visit them. Your parents probably feel well-come because they don't suspect you are as small and selfish as you really are. You two make a serpent's tooth look dull!

Dear Abby: There is a young woman who drives by our house every morning about 8:05 in a blue and white Chevy. My husband feels that it's his duty to smile and wave at her. He doesn't know her from a load of hay. I say he can look the other way. He says it will hurt her feelings.

I am getting upset over this routine. Am I wrong to object or not? Please put your answer in the paper, Abby. I want my old goat to see it.

UPSET
Dear Upset: If he doesn't know her from a "load of hay," maybe he is just feeling his oats. Next time, stand right beside your husband, embrace him affectionately and smile and wave to the friendly stranger. I'll bet she either changes her route or her routine.

Dear Abby: I am a boy of 12 and I am having trouble with my brother, who is 10. He wore my Boy Scout uniform and took my bugle outside and blew it all day.

When I caught him I gave him a little tap on the head. He was standing on the porch by the mailbox and his head accidentally hit the mailbox and a little tiny cut was made and maybe two drops of blood came out. He ran in the house screaming and my mother went into hysterics.

I am now being punished by having to stay in the house all day Saturday and Sunday. My brother didn't get punished at all for wearing my uniform and blowing my bugle. Do you think this was fair?

PUNISHED
Dear punished: Your brother had punishment coming, too. But your mother probably felt that matter was taken care of when you "tapped" him (some tap!) on the head. Next time, leave the punishment to your mother.

Confidential to "Under Age and Desperate": I can't help you unless you send me your name and address. I offer advice and refer people to the proper agencies. I do not "turn them in."

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teenager," is on sale at all bookstores.

Three County Schools Get Fire Aid

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG—Three schools in Monroe County will receive a total of $9,780.44 from state funds to help pay costs of meeting fire hazard regulations at the school buildings, the State Department of Public Instruction said yesterday.

Monroe County schools on the approved list are all in Pocono Mountain Jointure. They are: Pocono Township combination (high and elementary) school was granted $7,313.47 on an estimated cost of making the necessary alterations of $16,900; Jackson elementary school will receive $1,192.64 on an estimated alteration cost of $2,756, and Paradise elementary school was approved for $1,274.33 on a cost of making alterations estimated at $2,944.68.

It was pointed out by the department that the list of schools just approved does not indicate that requests by school districts for funds for schools not on the current list have been denied. Requests for grants are still under investigation and still other requests for which investigations are complete are in the course of being checked for approval by the different state departments concerned with the grants, the department said.

128 Schools
The approved list contains the names of 128 schools in various parts of the state. They will receive a total of $1,168,450.59 from state funds.

State grants are being made to school districts to help pay costs of complying with orders from the State Department of Labor and Industry issued under the fire and penal act.

In cooperation with the Department of Public Instruction the Department of Labor and Industry conducted a campaign to eliminate fire hazards in school and other public buildings following the disastrous fire in a Chicago school in 1958. The Legislature last year ordered that state grants to schools be made from the state school fund, which is derived from excise taxes—money in depositories which reverts to the state if not claimed by the owner within the time specified by law.

Sees Recovery In Chile Long Time

NEWFOUNDLAND — "Recovery will take a long time, but we trust that even out of the disaster may come blessing," writes Walter F. Mason, a missionary leader of the Methodist Church in Santiago, Chile. The Methodist congregations of LaAnna, South Sterling and Hemlock Grove will help to hasten that recovery in Chile from "the most serious natural disaster to afflict any community during this century," by contributing to a special collection tomorrow morning during worship.

In issuing an appeal to the people to contribute to this worthy cause, Rev. Arthur B. Campney noted that in Chile, approximately 65 percent of the population in a 1,000 mile long area is without shelter. It is mid-winter there, and more than 5,000 are dead, and 10,000 are homeless. They are without food or clothing. Sickness and disease require large quantities of medical supplies.

To Speak
Rev. Dr. Samuel Banks, Drew University faculty member in the area of pastoral counseling will be the speaker during the service tomorrow and the following Sunday in all three churches. Laymen will assist with the service in each church tomorrow.

Dr. Banks takes the place of Rev. Mr. Campney, who left this morning with his wife, Joanne, and son, Benjamin, for a two week trip to Iowa.

RETIRE

How far will your pension go when you retire? And what will inflation have done to your nest-egg by then? Recently 64 leading representatives of business, labor, education and government met at the American Assembly to consider the problem of prices. They concluded that reasonably stable prices are possible in a period of dynamic growth and low unemployment. But, if we are ever to reach this goal, all of us must strive together to assure a steady rise in productivity.

Youth, 11, Drowns In Pen Argyl

PEN ARGYL—Leonard Vanderbilt, 11, Dover, N.J., drowned in Weona Park swimming pool here Saturday while attending a Sunday School picnic.

He was one of 175 children from Bethany Church, Dover, who came to spend the day at the park. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Vanderbilt, Victory Gardens, Dover, did not accompany the group.

Dominic Tanzella, 12, Pen Argyl, noticed Leonard, clad in yellow swimming trunks, in eight feet of water at the deep end of the pool shortly after 2 p.m. He pulled the youngster out.

Respiration Fails

Blaine Strunk of Pen Argyl, a Red Cross swimming instructor at the pool, attempted artificial respiration and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Squads from the Lookout Volunteer Fire Co. here and Wind Gap ambulance tried for a half hour to revive the boy with oxygen.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. George Turtzo of Pen Argyl, deputy Northampton County coroner.

It was the first drowning in the pool since it opened almost 30 years ago. Park officials ordered the pool closed.

Funeral services for the youngster will be announced by O. B. Smith Funeral Home, Dover.

Effort Man Dies At 68

EFFORT—Herbert Franklin Keiper, 68, Effort, died suddenly at 4:45 p.m. at Effort yesterday.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Keiper, he was born in Berlinville, Pa.

He is survived by three sons, Paul, George, and Frederick, all of U.S. Army; and a daughter, Thelma, Allentown; also one brother, Charles Keiper (ca) of Pottsville; and seven grand children.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Kresge Funeral Home, Rev. John Kline will officiate.

Burial will take place at Effort Cemetery.

Friends and relatives may pay their respects at the Kresge Funeral Home, Broheadsville, Wednesday after 7 p.m.

Eastburg Police Probe Theft

EAST S. Stroudsburg police are investigating the theft of approximately $73 from the office of Welco Industries, Inc., 250 Harris St.

Investigators said the money was taken from the office of a secretary sometime between 5:40 p.m. Friday and 11:55 a.m. Saturday.

The thieves broke a window panel on the front door in an unsuccessful attempt to enter the building, then smashed a side window to gain entry.

Main Office Enticed

Police said the main office was entered, but not searched. Three desk drawers and a safe in the secretary's office were ransacked.

30 Boys At Camp

THE 30 BOYS from Monroe County who left Saturday for a week's stay at the Salvation Army's Camp Al-Yuk-Pa at Forks, Pa., arrived in pretty good spirits.

The group, the first of many boys and girls from this area who will vacation there, found "Happiness." The camp's name is taken from an Indian language and is understood to mean "happiness."

The present contingent now at camp is being sponsored jointly by Keystone Consistory Club, Stroud Community Club, Salvation Army Advisory Board members and interested friends. The average cost per child for a stay at this youth camp is $16.

Fifty other youngsters from area will spend a week at the camp during the month of July.

Walter Warns Of Red Dangers

CONGRESSMAN Francis E. Walter, Easton, blasted both the American public and Soviet Premier Khrushchev in an address yesterday morning before the Annual Communion Breakfast of Pocono Catholic Missions at Bartonsville Hotel, Bartonsville. The Easton representative

50 MPH Winds Whip Area

WINDS in gusts up to 50 mph whipped through the Poconos Saturday, damaging power lines and disrupting service to hundreds of area residents.

The wind felled a power pole near Cypher's Coal Co. on Ann St. in Stroudsburg, forcing a roadblock to be placed on that section of street. The roadblock is expected to be removed after Pennsylvania Power and Light workers repair the damage sometime today.

"It was a bad windstorm," Earl E. Heller, Asst. District Manager of PP&L reported, "as far as service interruptions are concerned. About 200 persons were without power at any one time Saturday night, but most of the damage was cleaned up by 10 that same night."

Bell Telephone Plant Wire Chief Neal Rote noted that about 275 subscribers were without telephones Saturday night.

"We had 14 crews out," Rote said, "but the lines were back in service in a very short time."

Most of Bell's damage, due to trees ripping out wires, was scattered around Reeders, Marshalls Creek, and Bushkill. Most power line damage was centered around Stroudsburg, with little trouble in the outlying areas.

Agrees To Pay Costs Of Pilfer

MRS. STELLA Mazurik, 46, Canadensis, had larceny charges against her dropped Saturday after she agreed to pay for an estimated $30 worth of merchandise taken from the local J. J. Newberry Store.

She was arrested by Patrolman Richard B. Wolbert of the Stroudsburg Police Dept. She ran from the store as she was being questioned by Wolbert and J. Warren Rockwell, store manager.

Wolbert, employed as a store detective during off duty hours, chased the woman north on N. Sixth St. and west on Monroe St., apprehending her at the rear of the Monroe County Courthouse. She had taken a brassiere from a counter.

Pleads Guilty

Mrs. Mazurik pleaded guilty at a hearing before Peace Justice John C. F. Foelker. Police said she admitted taking more than $30 worth of merchandise from the store during the past year.

Rockwell, who signed the complaint, dropped the larceny charge after she agreed to pay for the stolen goods and the costs of prosecution.

After the parade, a dance was held at the Lehigh Post.

levelled the charge against the American public in that "there is an imminent danger from Communism. There is also an imminent danger which comes from our own indifference, our failure to grasp the fact that there is an imminent danger from Communism."

Walter directed the other phase of his attack on Khrushchev and "blasphemous" remarks the Soviet premier made concerning the U-2 incident.

The Pocono Catholic Missions has jurisdiction over the parishes of Mount Pocono, Canadensis, Pocono Summit, Tannersville and Broheadsville. About 110 people attended.

The mission program opened with the singing of "God Bless America" and opening prayer by Rev. E. Robert Galligan. During breakfast, Mrs. Louis DePaul provided organ music.

Edmund Kozlowski, president of Our Lady Queen of Peace, Broheadsville, gave the welcome. Holy Name presidents George Reiz, St. Mary's, Mt. Pocono and Robert Tomko, St. Ann's Canadensis, made introductions. Col. Lester W. Kale, commander of Tobyhanna Signal Depot, gave a talk.

Rev. Galligan, pronounced the benediction.

In the subject matter, "The Imminent Danger of Communism," Rep. Walter stressed the point that "one of the basic fallacies of some of the leaders of the free world in attempting to cope with Communism is to regard it as just another form of government which can be voted in or out at the will of the citizenry."

The 15th District congressman continued: "This is precisely what the Communists would have the free world believe, but the facts are otherwise."

Outlines Patterns

Walter outlined the patterns generally followed by the Reds in that they (1) soften up its prey by deceitful propaganda; (2) by subversive action; (3) use of force.

Rep. Walter, who represents the 15th District, comprising Carbon, Monroe and Northampton Counties, said "The Communist operation on American soil is now more deadly than ever before in the history of the nation."

"If I should attempt to describe each of the many areas of Communist activity, both over the world and in the United States, . . . it would necessitate literally weeks of time," he continued.

He then dwelled exclusively on one phase of Communist operation, namely, espionage. "Its range, technique and accomplishments are so extensive that I can only give samplings," he reiterated.

The Easton Democrat listed several incidents where Red espionage agents had infiltrated the country. A few of whom were with United Nations, the Czechoslovakian Embassy in Washington, and Soviets also infiltrate its agents into the country by use of consulates, trade unions, cultural and scientific exchanges, refugees and even alleged defectors.

In particular, he named the Major Zagorsky, who had recently visited the United States as a member of a construction delegate and Lt. Col. Aleksandr Kudriavtsev, who came to this country with the Molotov Dancers who took curtain calls with them at the end of their performances.

He also identified Metropolitan Nikolai of the Russian Orthodox Church, who visited this country in 1956 as part of a religious delegation, as an agent of the MVD.

"On May 13, the West German Ministry of the Interior made its annual report on spy activity. This report revealed that in the year 1959, 3661 persons in West Germany admitted that they had spied for Iron Curtain countries," he declared.

"It is estimated that there are now 16,000 professional Communist spies in West Germany, plus many more 'part time' agents. Since the end of World War II, over 15,000 Red agents have been arrested in that country. In the first four months of this year, 820 more were arrested," the colon claimed.

"Yet Khrushchev had the blasphemous gall to say in reference to Communist espionage at the time of the U-2 incident: 'As God is my witness, my hands are clean and my soul is pure,'" Walter scolded.

"Does the man who runs a spy apparatus of such magnitude—and is such a hypocrite—have any right to put the United States on the defensive in the court of world opinion on the subject of espionage?" Walter asked, "Khrushchev" he then went on to reply to the same question, "doth protest too much, to use Shakespeare's phrase."

No Clear-cut Law

Reverting the address now to the U-2 incident, Walter queried again, "What is the rule of international law today on the subject of air space sovereignty?" "Actually," he said, "there is no clear-cut law at all on this subject. What we do know with certainty, however, is that the old concept of unlimited air space sovereignty is no longer accepted."

"The principle that obviously applies here is the old one of sovereignty being limited by a nation's ability to enforce it," he said, "So far, as we know today, no nation has the ability to enforce air space sovereignty at a height of 12 miles or more above the earth—the altitude at which the unarmed American U-2 plane flies," he continued.

Concluding, he said "it would therefore appear that, according to accepted principles of international law, the flights over Soviet Union were neither a violation of international law nor of Soviet sovereignty."

Free Boat Trips

It is indefensible for congressmen to accept secret cut rates for their own pleasure cruises and free trips for wives from ship lines that are federally subsidized. For the same congressman must vote on subsidy appropriations.

Railroads and air lines are forbidden to give cut rates to the lawmakers. The ship lines should be, too. If a congressman must make a trip on official business the government should pay his fare, at regular rates, and if he wants to take a pleasure cruise or wants to take members of his family with him on an official trip, he should pay full fare for them out of his own pocket. Congressional salaries are now ample to permit it.

Yet there are congressmen who will chisel and sponge where they can. And some have been taking full advantage of a chance to get secret fare concessions from the subsidized ship lines, according to the Knight newspapers. Some, when exposed, even brazenly defend the practice.

Representative John Williams (Rep., Del.) hasn't even been able, in five trips, to get house conferees to go along on a measure to require disclosure of free or cut rate voyages to government employees. So congressmen who have helped keep the concessions hushed up share in the blame for the situation.

Congress is quick to raise the roof when employees in other branches of government misuse their office for private advantage. How explain its difficulty in applying the same strict standards to its own members in such matters as cheap or free pleasure cruises for themselves or their families?

Opinions Of Other Editors

Setbacks, Not Humiliation

It was the last of the ninth, with the bases loaded and two out. The world champions needed three runs to tie, four to win. Jones, their best hitter, came to bat. The crowd demanded a home run. But poor Jones rolled weakly to the pitcher.

"Beaten again," said a despairing lad to his father, "what's the matter with us?" "Didn't do so well, today, did we?" came the reply. "But nobody wins them all and remember, we're still ahead in the pennant race."

This father's corrective for childish despair has application to some of the recent moaning in the United States over foreign policy reverses. Especially curious is the repeated statement, that the nation has suffered a "great humiliation" by postponement of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan.

A diplomatic setback? Yes. But humiliation? No. Are you humiliated because a man who has invited you to his house cannot control his children and has to withdraw the invitation?

Only if you are inexperienced or feel very insecure and have boasted about the invitation. False pride can be humiliated. It shatters when touched, grovels when rebuffed. But integrity and firm purpose press on, with head battered but unbowed.

It is not yet clear what the Communists - led mobs in Tokyo have wrought. In the long run what they have done to the President's visit can be less important than what they may have done to constitutional government in Japan. What they have done to America still depends in large measure on how Americans respond—with despair and feeling of humiliation or with awakened energy and firmer resolve.

Let's face it. There have been some diplomatic reverses for the United States. We don't know yet how serious or lasting these may prove. Already plain is a hardening of the cold war, which is disappointing to multitudes hoping that eased tensions will lead to peace.

But when tensions can be tightened overnight by the Kremlin, a "thaw" can produce merely a lowering of world guards rather than real peace. So this loss may not be so great as it appeared to many folk.

But the disposition of too many Americans to consider the President and the nation "humiliated" by Mr. Khrushchev's rudeness at Paris or Mr. Kishi's weakness in Tokyo is itself a danger signal.

It is well to recognize and learn from mistakes. But appearing upset and indulging in excessive self-condemnation over any failure is the mark of short-sighted and unsure inexperience, not of the mature perspective and settled purpose expected of any nation charged with world leadership.

Fact Or Fable?

Social Security Guide

Q. One of my friends has told me that the social security tax does not have to be withheld from my wages since I am drawing benefits. Is this true?

A. Your friend is incorrect. The law specifies that social security taxes must be deducted from the pay of all persons employed in occupations covered by the Social Security Act. Therefore, regardless of the fact that you may be past 65 and drawing benefits, your wages are still subject to the social security tax just as other workers' wages.

Q. My salary is $3,000 a year. Next May I will be 72 years old. A friend told me that I could receive social security benefits for all months next year regardless of my earnings? Is this true?

No. You can receive benefits beginning May 1960 when you become 72, but not for the months before. Of course, you must file an application at your social security office to become entitled to these benefits.

Q. I became 72 years of age in the latter part of last year. I have not filed for benefits because I've been working at my regular job. My employer told me recently that I can receive benefits regardless of my earnings. Is this correct?

A. Yes. Benefits are payable to an individual beginning with the month he reaches 72 regardless of the amount of his earnings. You should contact your social security office immediately.

Q. I own a meat market. I am 71 years old. I understand that employees who continue to work after age 72 can receive benefits. Does this provision of the law apply to persons who are in business for themselves?

A. Yes. Beginning with age 72 both employees and self-employed persons may receive benefits.

Q. I am a season worker and will be 72 years old in March. My season starts in May and I do not work at all the first four months of the year. My total earnings for the year will be more than $1200. Will I lose any social security benefits next year?

A. No. Under the social security law, no matter how much you earn in a year, you will receive a check for any month you earn wages of $100 or less. In addition, you can receive benefits starting with your 72nd birthday, regardless of how much you earn. Since your work will begin after you are 72, you will receive all benefits for the year.

The Pennsylvania Story

Safety Probe

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Decision of Pennsylvania's State Senate to probe the Administration - initiated highway safety program is worth considering more than passing interest.

The investigatory resolution cleared by the Senate last week directing the Legislature's research body — the Joint State Government Commission — to take a close look at the program previously tabled by the Legislature but activated by executive order, contains three basic probe points:

1—Discriminatory aspects; 2 —Application of the Governor's plan; 3—Legality of the plan.

On the subject of the Governor's new highway safety program and in light of the Legislature's latest action, what this column had to say back in February is worth noting again:

"Virtually none question the merit of the program as a whole and the fundamental purpose of striking at reducing the slaughter on Pennsylvania's highways.

"The question does arise however as to whether the Lawrence Administration is on firm ground in attempting to put in to effect by executive order a program the legislative branch declined to go along with during the past 1969 legislative session.

"The point arises of course as to why, if the executive branch could put the program into effect in the first place — as it has done now — why was it necessary to bother with trying to gain legislative approval?

"Some phases of the Lawrence Administration highway safety program apparently are wide open to question as to constitutionality."

The following point raised then by this column is as pertinent now as at that time:

"Whether the executive branch has overstepped its constitutional bounds is the point netting lawmakers — not the merits of the program."

Most certainly in light of the investigation resolution forced through the Senate last week by controlling Senate Republicans, a word of commendation is in order for Pennsylvania's legislative branch — not for any punitive action that may or may not be in the offing — but for at long last beginning to assume some of its constitutional responsibility.

If the legislative branch is no longer needed, then some constitutional changes are in order — but until that time the Legislature does have its responsibilities! Under Pennsylvania's present constitution it is the legislative branch that tells the executive branch what to do — not the reverse.

Perhaps most amazing of all was this defense of the Governor's highway safety program and the opposition to the Senate investigation resolution, as offered on the floor of the Senate by Democratic Administration floor leader, Senator Charles R. Weiner, of Philadelphia:

"I am perfectly willing to take the chance that maybe someone in the hierarchy of our bureaucracy errs in preventing someone from having a license. However I would much rather have them err on that side and save one human life than to err on the other side and remove any and all safeguards that can be had."

Senator Weiner's appeal is sound and of course makes sense — up to a point. That point is simply this: if the legality of the move is to be flaunted and countenanced in this instance on the grounds of salutary appeal, similar flaunts of law and constitutionality are to be condoned.

In other words, to illustrate the point, the Governor would be perfectly in order in directing that the driver license age be upped from 16 to 18 years of age — an undisputed legislative responsibility — in the interests of saving a human life! Such illustrations could go on indefinitely.

"The legislative branch has done well in looking to its constitutional books. Senate Republicans — in this instance at least — are to be commended for their singlehanded action in forcing through their probing resolution.

Since a good many of us will be troubled by some form of arthritis as we grow older, let's get prepared to combat it as well as we can.

And let's face the facts. As yet we have no cure for this disease which has plagued mankind throughout history.

Can Be Eased

Usually, however, we can ease any pain and prevent disability, providing we seek medical help at the proper time.

The best way to combat any disease such as this is to know as much about it as we can. So let me explain a few things.

Many persons speak about rheumatism and arthritis interchangeably. Yet there is a difference.

Group Of Diseases

Rheumatism, you see, is not one disease, but a whole group of disorders which affect the joints and the muscles.

Generally, we refer to mild aches and pains as rheumatism. We reserve the use of the word arthritis for the more serious forms of joint inflammation.

There are different forms of arthritis, too, the most common types being osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis.

Comes With Age

Osteoarthritis is generally the result of aging and most persons over 60 have it to some degree.

Although the joint cartilage degenerates, it is usually not disabling. It is, however, somewhat painful.

Rheumatoid arthritis is much more serious and, fortunately, not as common as osteoarthritis. It attacks three times as many women as men and usually strikes between the ages of 35 and 50.

It affects the joints, muscles and sometimes the eyes, heart, spleen and lymph glands. Crippling and deformity sometimes result from severe cases.

Some Symptoms

The symptoms to watch for are fatigue, loss of appetite and weight, general weakness, swelling in the joints and muscle aches and inflammation.

Although we have no scientific proof that arthritis is inherited, it does seem to run in families. So if there is history of arthritis in your family, see a doctor at the first sign of any symptom.

Helpful Compounds

We have no scientific wonder drug to cure arthritis, but through the use of ACTH, cortisone and other related steroids and gold compounds we can often check swelling and inflammation to a dramatic degree.

Heat treatments with moist towels, tub baths or electric pads are usually advised to ease the pain of rheumatoid arthritis.

Question And Answer

S.E.D., I would like to know if smoking a pipe would be injurious to a person with gastro-intestinal trouble?

Answer: In some gastrointestinal troubles, such as ulcers, it is often considered better to quit smoking.

Urge Lifting Of Bans

Washington — President Eisenhower is weighing two far-reaching proposals from Defense Secretary

While Gates and the Joint Chiefs realize that difficult political problems are involved in both proposals, they are being vigorously advocated by them on the ground of "urgent military necessity." Only the President can decide the political implications.

But the defense leaders deem the early resumption of atomic tests vital because of the impending completion of missiles and other weapons using nuclear warheads.

While none of these new arms were named by Gates, his listeners were fully aware that development of the Navy's solid-fuel intermediate range POLARIS is ahead of schedule. This nuclear-tipped missile, designed he held with newsmen, at the close of the three-day conference. However, the following publishable details of what he told the Pentagon and other authorities in the closed-door Quantico deliberations can be made known:

That can be done only by testing them. Laboratory experiments and other substitutes are wholly inadequate.

Polaris warheads are not the only new nuclear weapons awaiting field tests. There are a number of other important ones, particularly small caliber for ground forces and anti-aircraft rockets of various types.

No U-2 Alternatives—"Overflights" by U-2 planes have provided invaluable military information that can be obtained in no other way.

That's what General C. P. Cabell, deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, told the Quantico conference in stressing the need for continuing such reconnaissance missions over Russia and Red China.

especially for nuclear-powered submarines, will become operational next year.

Like Secretary Gates, the CIA official noted that other factors are involved in this matter which only the President can decide.

"But the tremendous results of these 'overflights' speak for themselves," said Cabell. "In a little more than three years, we secured information about Soviet anti-aircraft defenses, atomic installations, missile and rocket bases and production centers, weapons depots and other storage and communications centers that had never been available to us through any other source or method."

To replace the suspended U-2 "overflights," the CIA has greatly increased various "other activities." But while productive, these operations are falling short of the U-2 plane missions.

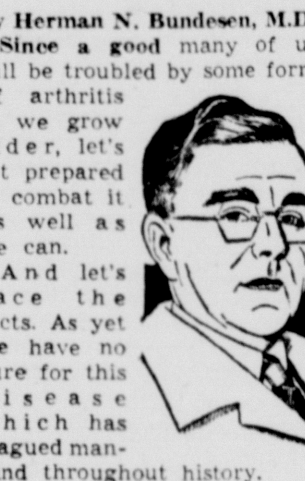

"It will be about two years before we can get any significant information from reconnaissance satellites," said Cabell in reply to a question.

As a result of the U-2 "overflights," an estimated 60 percent of Russia's anti-aircraft defenses and missile installations were located. It is known the Soviet is now extensively expanding these bases.

"That's why it is so crucial to resume these reconnaissance flights as soon as possible," declared Cabell. "These vital targets are not only becoming more numerous, but there are many of them we were not able to reach previously. And to do that, there simply is no substitute for 'overflights.'"

Arthritis Battle

Some degree. Although the joint cartilage degenerates, it is usually not disabling. It is, however, somewhat painful.

Rheumatoid arthritis is much more serious and, fortunately, not as common as osteoarthritis. It attacks three times as many women as men and usually strikes between the ages of 35 and 50.

It affects the joints, muscles and sometimes the eyes, heart, spleen and lymph glands. Crippling and deformity sometimes result from severe cases.

Some Symptoms

The symptoms to watch for are fatigue, loss of appetite and weight, general weakness, swelling in the joints and muscle aches and inflammation.

Although we have no scientific proof that arthritis is inherited, it does seem to run in families. So if there is history of arthritis in your family, see a doctor at the first sign of any symptom.

Helpful Compounds

We have no scientific wonder drug to cure arthritis, but through the use of ACTH, cortisone and other related steroids and gold compounds we can often check swelling and inflammation to a dramatic degree.

Heat treatments with moist towels, tub baths or electric pads are usually advised to ease the pain of rheumatoid arthritis.

Question And Answer

S.E.D., I would like to know if smoking a pipe would be injurious to a person with gastro-intestinal trouble?

Answer: In some gastrointestinal troubles, such as ulcers, it is often considered better to quit smoking.

The President's Gift For Laughter

The correspondents who accompanied the President on his historic journey would agree that his smile deserves the Nobel Peace Prize. Rarely have so many expressed so much affection for one man. Throughout the rigorous journey, President Eisenhower retained his sense of buoyancy. The grin that aroused the enthusiasm of millions and the laughter he shared with notable figures offered a clearer insight into his personality than his most profound thoughts. He is a man who loves people—and laughter.

As he once noted: "I do not need to tell you that this job is an unholy mixture of irritations, frustrations and bewildering conflicts. Nevertheless, I try to keep my sense of humor and keep swinging with both hands."

Humility is always buttressed by a humorous sense. It provides a clearer and more accurate perspective of the individual. By and large the greatest men have been equipped with the ability to take their work seriously — not themselves. Eisenhower's ascendancy during the war was rocket-like. Within three years he zoomed from lieutenant colonel to five-star general. After attaining the five-star rank, many of his aides extended warm congratulations. The wave of happy hopes inspired Eisenhower to grin: "I appreciate the honor. But remember I was a major for sixteen years."

uncommon talent of using the light touch to reprimand subordinates. It is one of the President's most disarming qualities. Criticism with a smile often removes the sting of the reprimand — without losing the stern implications.

Some years ago a junior officer presented General Eisenhower with a muddled report. After reading it he called in the author of the mish-mash and said: "I'm too thick-headed to understand this. You'll have to make it simpler."

Essentially a gregarious individual, General Eisenhower endeavored to dispense with the stiff formalities which usually accompany lofty military rank. He described the windy, pompous reports relayed from Washington as "transatlantic essay contests."

CUTIES

—By E. Simms Campbell

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Teddy No Mollycoddle

In 1904 and 1905, Theodore Roosevelt established the principle that as the United States, under the Monroe Doctrine, objected to any European power intervening in the affairs of Latin America, the United States had a moral responsibility to maintain order and protect life and property in these countries.

In his 1904 annual message, President Theodore Roosevelt said:

"... It is not true that the United States feels any land hunger or entertains any projects as regards the other nations of the Western Hemisphere save such as are for their welfare. All that this country desires is to see the neighboring countries stable, orderly, and prosperous."

Then he declared American policy as follows:

"... Chronic wrongdoing, or an impotence which results in a general loosening of the ties of civilized society, may in America, as elsewhere, ultimately require intervention by some civilized nation, and in the Western Hemisphere the adherence of the United States to the Monroe Doctrine may force the United States, however reluctantly, in flagrant cases of such wrongdoing or impotence, to the exercise of an international police power."

of the United States or had invited foreign aggression to the detriment of the entire body of American nations . . ."

In his 1905 annual message, Theodore Roosevelt wrote for contemporary America:

"... There are, of course, limits to the wrongs which any self-respecting nation can endure. It is always possible that wrong actions toward this Nation, or toward citizens of this nation, in some State unable to keep order among its own people, unable to secure justice from outsiders, and unwilling to do justice to those outsiders who treat it well, may result in our having to take action to protect our rights; but such action will not be taken with a view to territorial aggression, and it will be taken at all only with extreme reluctance and when it has become evident that every other resource has been exhausted."

Fidel Castro might read the Roosevelt 1904 and 1905 messages in detail. True, times have changed but they have not changed that much.

The people of the United States are growing very weary of his nonsense and his next step, a mutual security treaty to be his last.

Up to now President Eisenhower has taken the position that the United States will not be the aggressor in any situation. This attitude, well known to all countries, is the foundation of policy for other countries. They approach the United States impudently, assuming that President Eisenhower will turn the other cheek. No country fears us, because inaction is anticipated.

President Eisenhower, it is believed universally, will fill out his term without taking action against Castro, no matter what Castro does that is antagonistic to the United States, short of blowing up Miami Beach.

The policy cannot much longer er prevail. It is an encouragement to weak and backward nations as well as to the Soviet Universal State to flout the United States on small matters as well as large. The policy has become a peril to world peace.

From a moral standpoint, it may be justified on the ground that we are not the first to act in a fighting war, but in this period of the 20th Century, war is fought by other means than military and therefore an adjustment in thinking on this subject is necessary. This is particularly true as regards Cuba.

The application of Jehovah Witness pacifism to American policy is impossible when its enemy is armed for war. Khrushchev would not have dared to maintain his posture in Paris were he not sure that nothing would be done about it. Nor would Fidel Castro. In a word, the non-aggression policy has stimulated impudence.

The next President, no matter who he may be, will not be able to continue along Eisenhower's lines. The President is personally very popular and it is difficult to criticize him without offending many good people. No present candidate for the Presidency enjoys such personal popularity — which is very good indeed.

Shawnee Setting For Wedding Of Judith Cramer And Frank Tolsdorf Jr.

The Shawnee Presbyterian Church was the setting Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Judith Rae Cramer and Frank Frederick Tolsdorf, Jr. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Wesley Crowthers. A reception was held at "Bird Haven" home of the bride's parents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer C. Cramer of Shawnee on the Delaware. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Tolsdorf of Hackensack, N.J.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a designer gown of Swiss embroidered silk organza over dotted Swiss in white with delicate pink flowers. The gown was fashioned with a scooped neckline, short sleeves and an intermission hemline terminating in a fishtail train. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a matching pink bow and she carried a colonial bouquet of white and pale pink carnations and baby's breath.

Her attendants wore pink dotted Swiss gowns with a silk organza overskirt. They carried French nosegays of pink roses and baby's breath with red roses in the center.

Her sister, Mrs. Charles A. Winding, Jr., of Providence, R.I., was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Mary Elizabeth Rumsey and Kay Annette Shook of Stroudsburg.

Richard Edwin Tolsdorf, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were William Clapp Bullock Jr. of Darien, Conn., Edward Burdick of Philadelphia and Russell Conwell Cramer II, brother of the bride.

The bride was graduated from Elmira College in 1959 and was with B. Altman & Co. of New York.

Tolsdorf was graduated from the Mount Herman School and Yale College, Class of 1958. He is with the Budd Company of Philadelphia.

Santa Claus Degree Awarded Mrs. Santa Claus Alias Miss Elsie Ullrich

By Peggy Baneroff
Mountainhome — One of the few women to receive the degree of B.S.C. . . . (in fact, the diploma is printed for his diligence, his earnest desire to serve others) . . . Miss Elsie Ullrich, a former visitor to the Pocomos who is now a "full-time native."

Yes, Miss Ullrich, alias Mrs. Santa Claus, has been awarded her degree of Bachelor of Santa Claus, Summa Cum Ho-Ho-Ho! She has discovered, through her attendance at classes in the Santa Claus school, that there's much, much more to the portrayal of Old St. Nick than curly white hair, a portly figure, a deep laugh, a long white beard and a bright red suit.

There are things that a real Christmas-spirit-type Santa Claus (or Mrs. Claus) never does, it seems. For instance, the true Claus never (but never!) actually promises a child a specific gift. This avoids the situation in the home whereby a small child bursts into tears and shouts: "But he promised I could have a live kangaroo!"

It appears that a good Santa Claus must be trained to say the right thing at the right time, not to ask too many questions, and to "understand, interpret, and portray Santa Claus and his work!" It's really not just a matter of being able to drive (or is it steer) a sleigh, remember the names of eight tiny reindeer and Rudolph, slither down a chimney and eat cookies and milk in 20 million homes within eight hours, leaving just the right amount of cookie crumbs as evidence of an enjoyed feast.

Miss Ullrich and her role of Mrs. Santa Claus came about in this manner. When she retired from the daily act of making a living in the Philadelphia area, she decided to "do something just for fun."

Now doing something just for fun to Elsie Ullrich means doing something that will be fun for somebody else. And the one thing that makes for the most pleasure for young ladies from six months to twelve years is a doll.

She set up a doll shop. Not satisfied with merely buying and selling dolls and doll clothes, she enrolled in a school for Santa Claus, to develop a sort of Christmas Spirit Heart!

And that's exactly what she has done. She and the little girls who come to her shop for guns and holsters for their dolls, or for bride outfits, complete to "something blue" see heart-to-heart, and everybody has fun!

So to Elsie Ullrich, alias Mrs. Santa Claus, has been awarded the highest honor in the heart-warming business of making life pleasant for someone else. She is Elsie Ullrich, B.S.C., with the privilege of wearing the bright red suit (plus pillow) that is the uniform of St. Nicholas himself.

She has two granddaughters. Stright has two brothers, Edward of East Stroudsburg, and Roy of Florida. Mrs. Stright has three living brothers, Harry, Ronald and Albert Marvin of the Stroudsburg area.

Strights Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy A. Stright of Stroudsburg RD 1, celebrated their fiftieth anniversary yesterday with an open house at the home of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell of RD 1, Stroudsburg.

The Strights met in 1909 in Little Kunkletown and were married one year later in the Delaware Water Gap parsonage. Rev. Henry G. Maine was the officiating pastor.

After they were married Stright farmed at Shafer's Schoolhouse, Stroudsburg. Officially he is retired but last year he built the house in which the McConnells live.

Mrs. Stright, age 69, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Marvin of Monroe County. Her husband, age 71, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Stright of Shafer's Schoolhouse.

They had four children and three are living: Mrs. John McConnell, Tracy M. Stright, an engineer for Trans-World Airways and Graydon Stright of the United States Air Force.

They have two granddaughters. Stright has two brothers, Edward of East Stroudsburg, and Roy of Florida. Mrs. Stright has three living brothers, Harry, Ronald and Albert Marvin of the Stroudsburg area.

Plans were made for a block party to be held at Promise Land Church grounds on July 2 and 3.

JUNE JUMBO SALE TODAY THRU JULY 2nd

SUCH A NICE SURPRISE to have Elsie Logan (Walter's wife) stop into the office after a visit to our Wyckoff Beauty Salon. A conversation with Elsie is always pleasant and inspirational. She is one of those all-too-few people who isn't embarrassed about mentioning God now and then, in a way that makes you confident she knows Him. I wonder why so many people shy away from all reference to things religious? It's rather sad.

Speaking of inspiration reminds me of two very beautiful wall adornments I have discovered in Walter Logan's picture framing department. One is a rather large reproduction of the painting "The Presence", showing Jesus, softly encircled by light, standing in a lofty, rather dim, Gothic-styled cathedral. Framed behind non-reflecting glass, this fine picture appears to be an original, painted upon porcelain. Non-glare glass endows every print with this precious quality.

The second masterpiece is a wood carving of the Lord's Prayer mounted upon black velvet, and framed under glass. Each little letter is exquisitely cut out of wood, in a delicate, old-time script. I understood this work of art is now owned by a Mount Pocono church.

I was much surprised, while visiting our Wyckoff picture framing department, to learn that Walter has a machine to laminate cards, pictures, and such. For some time it has been customary, when Wyckoff employees retire, to present them with a permanent discount card as a special gift from Mr. Wyckoff. These are always meticulously inscribed by Shorty Widmer, who does the penmanship on so many scrolls and citations presented annually by organizations in this area; then sent away to be permanently encased in plastic. It was really a jolt to learn that we have had a machine to do this work for the past several years. I often feel that there is SO much at Wyckoff's, even those of us who work here do not realize all our marvelous store has to offer!

Blakeslee-Dennis Wedding

On Saturday, at 7:30 p.m., Miss Verna Kay Blakeslee, daughter of Jerome, Blakeslee, RD 4, Stroudsburg and John Harold Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Dennis RD 4, Stroudsburg were married in Cherry Valley Methodist Church, Rev. C. Clyde Levergood officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Howard E. Blakeslee. She wore a white organza ballarina length gown with a lace bodice. Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a Bible with white carnations.

The maid of honor was Joan Armitage RD 1, Stroudsburg. She wore an aqua organza street length dress with a halo of shasta daisies and matching bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Vee Ann Blakeslee and Sara Ann Blakeslee. They wore pink organza street length gowns with halos of white shasta daisies and matching bouquets.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a blue chiffon dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The sister of the bride wore a beige dress with beige accessories and a yellow shasta daisy corsage.

Clifford L. Dennis of Titusville, N. J. was the best man.

Ushers were Samuel Blakeslee and Thomas Tamsz.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Heller, Cherry Valley. Following the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to the New Jersey shore. The bride wore a green print dress with white accessories.

The couple will reside at RD 4, Stroudsburg.

The bride is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and East Stroudsburg State College. She is an elementary teacher at Middle Smithfield School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School, East Stroudsburg State College, Pennsylvania State University and received his masters degree from Purdue University. He is employed with Herbert Imbt Inc.

Haynes' Motors Gives Deals That Will Top All Dealers

FHA Okays Housing

THE Federal Housing Administration has announced that central air conditioning systems in a home now are eligible under an FHA-approved mortgage.

Mildew Defeated

DAMPNESS and its accompanying problems, including mildew, peeling paint and wallpaper, and musty closets, disappear in an air conditioned house.

Pictured above is one of the many models of 1960 Fords now on sale at special Bonus prices at Haynes Motors, North Ninth Street, Stroudsburg, of which this low price offer ends July 5, 1960. This 1960 Ford Galaxie four-door Town Sedan shares the all-new styling characteristics of the other Ford models, yet bears unmistakable resemblance to the elegant Thunderbird profile. It has more interior room for six big persons than ever before. See this and other models at Haynes motors today!

Giveaway Prices Listed For Fords

WHILE waiting in the outer office of Haynes Motors to see one of the salesmen, I began to get a little impatient . . . for I had been waiting a little longer than usual . . . it was just a little too quiet inside the private office.

Then the quietness was broken by loud talking . . . I was just dying to find out what was going on . . . Was someone being fired? Or did a customer get a blue Ford instead of a red one?

Then someone else slipped into the "inner sanctum." But had left the door ajar. Soon the loud talking became discernable . . . As I moved my chair cautiously nearer to the door (I wouldn't have been here any ways for all the excitement going on inside) and suddenly realized I was on the hottest scoop ever!

There was a short dead silence . . . Then a voice said . . . "So we bought too many cars, what are we going to do?" Instantly I recognized the voice . . . it was that of Jess Haynes, owner of Haynes Motors on Ninth Street.

By the way he spoke, I said to myself, "That man is in trouble." I was astounded when I heard the amount of cars . . . all 1960 models. By this time I saw Frank Weller slide through the open door (he too forgot to close it). Apparently he too was concerned about the excessive amount of Galaxies, wagons and other models that had been ordered for I heard him say, "Jess, what are we going to do with all those cars on the lot, give 'em away?"

I thought to myself, "Frank you should have never said that . . . It was nice seeing you here at Haynes Motors . . . here your boss is in trouble and you come along and make jokes." Then there was a scuffle as if someone was shoving a chair back and getting up. You would have thought bedlam had broke loose. There was a victorious ring in Jesse's voice as he shouted, "That's just what we will do."

The there was silence. Nevada Buck entered the office (he closed the door). Wondering how I could hear more, I lit a cigarette. I didn't have to wait long for soon the voice got louder . . . They were excited.

"You can't give that much for a '58," one voice said. Then I heard Jesse say, loud and clear, "We can't eh, we'll give them that much and on top of that an extra large bonus . . . I didn't hear the exact figures but Frank Weller must have been adding up mighty fast for I heard him say 'Oh my gosh, that means you can get a four-door Town Sedan Galaxie for $38.76 a month. That is giving them away!'" With that everyone fled out of the office wiping their foreheads, apparently unable to believe what they just heard, followed by Jess Haynes with a big grin on his face.

As they walked by me no one noticed I had been sitting there. I am quite sure there were more interesting details . . . I only heard what came through the office door. If any one has been thinking even slightly about getting a new car, now would be the time . . . for deals like this just don't happen every day. Whether you buy a car or not it would be interesting to go to Haynes Motors on Ninth Street, Stroudsburg, just to see what the whole deal is all about . . . And I bet your head would really spin when you heard what they'll give you for your car.

Frigidaire Featured At Wyckoff's

ACCORDING to Harold Albert of Wyckoff's Frigidaire Appliance Dept. the homemaker who has a new Frigidaire electric refrigerator-freezer can save time and labor and pare down the food budget if she plans family meals in advance.

Here's how to find extra hours and save money:

1. Plan a week's menu and shop just once a week—preferably on Monday or Tuesday, the slower days—instead of making three or more weekly trips to the supermarket. Fresh foods stay fresh for a week in the roomy refrigerator compartments that are specially cooled and humidified.

2. Look for sales of frozen foods and freezable fresh foods. The freezing section will keep large quantities of them for weeks.

3. Double or triple recipes when making a casserole stew, soup, spaghetti sauce, or baked goods. What isn't needed immediately can be frozen to make effortless meals later and add extra hours for enjoying unexpected guests.

4. Forget about defrosting as frost never forms in the new Frigidaire electric refrigerator-freezers.

Hear And Understand Via Marguerite Greinert

HEAR AND Understand—this is the ultimate goal of Mrs. Marguerite J. Greinert, certified hearing and audiologist and authorized distributor for Audiovox Hearing Aids.

Mrs. Greinert has been serving the hard of hearing for more than 22 years — through proper hearing aids, speech and oftentimes in the psychological problems that arise through the loss of hearing.

Masters Degree
Many years of experience and extensive training have taught Mrs. Greinert that dealing with hearing problems is a person-to-person service that requires her personal contact with these needing help.

Holding a Master of Arts degree and a Ph. D. in clinical psychology from the Teachers College, Columbia University, Mrs. Greinert is a hearing therapist and has made extensive study of speech and lip reading in addition to her auditory training.

Mrs. Greinert is only too happy to give hearing tests and demonstrations to those who desire this service — with no charge or obligation — and the person can have this test right in their own home.

Anyone desiring to make an appointment with Mrs. Greinert need only call her Bushkill Offices collect (LUther 8-6718) or drop a card to Mrs. M. J. Greinert, P.O. Box 196, Bushkill, Pa. Mrs. Greinert is also at Bud's Mens Shop, 760 Main Street, Stroudsburg, every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. (HA 1-0450).

MR. PRESIDENT

by Patrick and Vinmont

JAMES BUCHANAN

Born in Franklin County, Pennsylvania, April 23, 1791. He graduated from Dickinson College in 1810. He then studied law. After serving in the War of 1812 as a private he established himself in law practice.

He entered politics at 24 as a member of the Pennsylvania legislature. During the following 40 years he served as a member of Congress, Minister to Russia, United States Senator, Secretary of State in Polk's cabinet and Minister to England under Pierce. For twenty years an unsuccessful candidate for the Presidential nomination, he was finally chosen by the Democrats and elected in 1856.

Inaugurated the fifteenth President of the United States on March 4, 1857. Almost on the first day of his administration the Supreme Court held in the Dred Scott decision that Congress had no power to keep slavery out of the territories. The fuse of the Civil War had already been lighted in Kansas; the Lincoln-Douglas debates heralded the coming conflict; John Brown's raid at Harper's Ferry further fanned the flames. Unjustly blamed for this web of circumstances which had been spinning since the beginning of the Union, he retired at the end of his term to his home near Lancaster, Penn. He died on June 1, 1868, aged 77.

JOHN CABELL BRECKINRIDGE

Born in Lexington, Kentucky, 1821. He attended Center College and Transylvania Institute, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1843. At 28 he was elected a member of the State legislature and two years later he became a member of the United States House of Representatives. He was elected Vice-President of the United States in 1856—the youngest man ever elected to this high office. He was the candidate for President on the Southern Democratic ticket in 1860. He served a few months as a United States Senator in 1861. He was against disunion but when dissolution was inevitable he sided with the Confederacy. He was a major general in the Confederate Army and acted as Secretary of War for the Confederate States. He died in 1875.

HARRIET LANE

Harriet Lane was born in 1833. Her parents died when she was a child and she was brought up by her bachelor uncle, James Buchanan. At twenty-four she entered the White House as his official hostess. Beautiful, well educated, intelligent, socially accomplished and in perfect health, she was fully equipped for her task. As hostess for her uncle, when he was Ambassador to Great Britain, she had attended court functions and dined with Queen Victoria. In the White House she presided superbly over the most brilliant and lively social events the Mansion had witnessed. In 1866 she married Henry Johnston. She died in 1903.

NYC Officials Hold Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of the New York Central Railroad struggled for six hours yesterday over a proposed offer to Baltimore and Ohio Railroad stockholders but reached no decision.

They recessed until Tuesday when they presumably will make another effort to see if they can match the offer the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway is making to the B&O stockholders.

Alfred Perlman, president of the Central, called the meeting to consider a proposal to B&O stockholders. This followed news of the offer made by the C&O.

The Central wants to become part of any B&O-C&O merger. The C&O stock offer is a prelude to such a merger.

Buck Hill Youth Gets Lobbyist Data

A STUDY for Rollins Center for Practical Politics on lobbying in the Florida House of Representatives has been prepared by Rollin Berger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Berger of Buck Hill Falls.

The 20-year-old student was analyst for the project, which revealed that "unelected" representatives who go to the legislature in Tallahassee as lobby agents representing principles are much a part of Florida's government as the governor, senate and house.

A history and government major, Berger was assigned to gather data on the 432 registered Florida lobbyists by Dr. Paul Douglass, Rollins government professor. The results of Berger's work appear in a report available from the Center for Practical Politics.

The report discusses only the "visible" legislative agents who have registered. A lobbyist is required to register with the chief clerk of the House of Representatives if he is a person engaging himself for a consideration to attempt influencing the passage or defeat of any legislation.

Name, Business

"Under oath such person must give to the chief clerk in writing his name and business," the report states. "Further, he must disclose the name of the principal who employs him or in whose interest he appears or works."

The government professor commented that any legislative agent who fails to register could only be penalized to the extent of being denied the right to appear before committees for the current session.

Because some major lobbyists do not by policy appear before committees, they do not register under this rule.

It is suggested in the study that these unregistered lobbyists could contribute to public confidence by declaring themselves openly. So long as some major lobbyists fail to register, the report reveals, operations will be suspected and confidence in government will continue to be undermined by their arrogant contempt for legislative decency.

"Big Time"

Another observation is that lobbying by state, county and municipal interests has become "big time" in Tallahassee. Of the eight congressional districts in Florida the third district houses 176 lobbyists, of which 149 are located in the capital city of Tallahassee.

Looking at the pattern of lobbyists, the study points out that the lobby structure has identifiable dimensions: business and special commercial interest; occupational groups seeking status by legislation; citizens concerned with causes of good government; health and welfare; public officials concerned with their departmental interests, and labor.

Significant, Dr. Douglass noted, is that the 170 lobbyists

Figuring Tax On MIP

By William A. Doyle
Q. How can I figure out the cost per share of stock purchased through the Monthly Investment Plan? I recently sold just part of the stock I bought through MIP. In order to report this on my Federal income tax, I have to know the cost per share.

A. This seemed to be a fairly simple, but technical, question. So, I took it to New York Stock Exchange — expecting a simple answer.

After all, this is the exchange's baby. Through MIP it is possible to invest as little as $40 every month or every three months in any of the stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The exchange and its member firms went to a great deal of trouble to set up this very sensible investment program. Much time, effort and money has gone into it.

Now, you have sold some of the stock you acquired through

MIP. Being an honest citizen, you want to meet your tax obligation to Uncle Sam.

It's natural to expect that the exchange would be able to tell you how to do just that. But does the exchange have an answer? No!

As weird as it may seem, the exchange passes on the word that there has never been a formal ruling by the Internal Revenue Service on this matter.

The exchange has never sought a formal ruling. From this corner, it most certainly seems that someone should have gone to bat with the revenue for the tens of thousands of MIP investors.

Nobody did.

However, the big brains on Wall Street do have a solution of sorts. They cite the following as the way these things are usually handled, taxwise:

To figure the cost per share of stock purchased through MIP, the investor adds up all his payments (if dividends have been reinvested, they also have to be added in) and divides by the number of shares he has acquired.

That is known as getting an average cost.

If he sells some of the stock at a price higher than his average cost, his profit is a capital gain. If he sells it at a lower price, he has a capital loss.

Assuming that he started to buy the stock more than six months ago, the investor reports the profit as a long-term capital gain.

Complications really set in when the investor sells enough of the stock so that he is actually selling all of the stock he acquired more than six months ago plus some of the stock he bought within the last six months.

In that case, he reports both long-term and a short-term capital gains. Again we are assuming that he sells the shares at a price higher than his average cost price.

But these methods of handling the tax are strictly informal—even though they evidently are common practice. They could be upset by the Internal Revenue Service or the tax courts at any time.

This entire situation cries for a formal ruling. That ruling should be made available in a simple printed form to all MIP investors.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

ESSC Teacher Attending Summer Parley At Case

MRS. WILLIE T. KING, associate professor of the Department of Chemistry at East Stroudsburg State College, is participating in an intensive three-week Summer Conference for college teachers at Case Institute of Technology, which began June 13.

The program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, consists of lectures, case studies and workshops, and is designed to demonstrate to college teachers the applications of mathematics, statistics and probability to the best use and control of industrial registered for health and welfare interests exceed the 125 representing special interests. Health interests had 19 times more registered lobbyists than racing.

The report explains, however, that legislative power is not identical with numbers. William C. Lantaff, lobbyist from Miami for Hialeah Race Course, voted one of the most influential of his profession, has legislative power far greater than many citizens lobbying for "causes."

and military systems. It is expected that portions of the subject matter of the Conference will be added to the programs of study at the colleges represented in the Conference.

Subjects which are being studied during the program include representation of competitive and dynamic systems, statistical processes and experimental optimization.

Activities involving both staff and participants are a valuable part of the Conference. Coffee hours, picnics, mixers, swimming and other social activities have been planned to allow the participants an informal opportunity to discuss problems that have arisen in their classes.

Bucs Lead Trimmed

Cubs Maul Friend, Law; Defeat Pittsburgh Twice

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Chicago Cubs rocked the Pittsburgh Pirates' one-two pitching combination of Bob Friend and Vernon Law Sunday and swept both ends of a doubleheader 7-6 and 7-5. The double loss chopped the Bucs' League-leading margin to three games.

The second place Milwaukee Braves dropped a 6-3 decision to the Los Angeles Dodgers but were still able to gain a half-game on the Pirates.

In the first game, the Cubs tagged Friend with his fourth loss of the season despite a sparkling fourth-run, ninth-inning rally by the Pirates. Highlighting the inning was a two-run home run by Smokey Burgess, the 11th four-bagger of his career as a pinchhitter.

Rally Snuffed
The Pirates also saw a potential eighth inning rally snuffed out in the second game by fine relief pitching by Don Elston.

The Cubs got to Law for two runs in the third inning, three more in the fourth and two in the eighth. Two errors in the fourth

Phils Split Pair With St. Louis

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Hal Smith hit his first home run of the season with two runners aboard in the ninth inning to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday. The Phillies won the opener, 3-2 in 12 innings on rookie Tony Gonzalez's home run.

The home run by Burgess tied him with George Crowe of St. Louis for the most pinch homers during a career. Crowe hit his 11th on May 25th against Milwaukee.

Palmer Closes With 69

Yanks Win Canada Cup; Snead Blows Solo Title

PORTSMOUTH, Ireland (AP)—A patented blazing comeback by Arnold Palmer saved the Canada Cup for the United States Sunday but failed to keep Belgium's Flory Van Donck from snatching the individual international golf title from Sam Snead.

Young Palmer, tightening up a game that at one time threatened to fall in tatters, finished with a three-under-par 69, but Snead, with the individual crown in his grasp, fell victim of one of his renowned blowups for a final round 75.

The Americans wound up with a team total of 565, eight shots better than England with 573. Australia's defending champions came in third on a 71 by Kel Nagle and a 75 by slumping Peter Thomson with Ireland fourth at 575 and South Africa fifth at 578.

Van Donck, a dapper socialite of 48, put together four steady rounds of 68-71-70-70 for 279, which beat out the faltering Snead by two shots. Palmer's fine climactic round tied him for third place at 284 with Harry Weetman of England, and sent him on to the British Open Championship at St. Andrews with renewed hope and confidence.

The roof fell in on Snead at the 192-yard 15th. There, badly in need of his par, he hooked his tee shot into a crazy embankment at the left and then, from a sidehill position, chipped to within 10 feet. He missed his putt.

By this time things were getting desperate, but there was no hope for Sam, who has blown a half-dozen U. S. Open championships with a similar unlucky windup. He missed a 3½ footer to take a five at the 18th and this was the clincher.

Palmer, putting Saturday as if both arms were broken, sank his first birdie putt Sunday at the sixth to turn in 35, one under. Then he birdied the tenth with a pitch dead at the pin and the 13th with another fine shot to within four feet of the cup. He didn't go over par on a single hole.

Strouds Top Nazareth 7-5 In Blue Mtn.

THE Strouds, triggered by a four-run first inning, downed Nazareth 7-5 Sunday in a Blue Mountain League game at Nazareth.

East Stroudsburg State College pitcher Tom Barrow went all the way for Frank Radler's club, allowing six hits and three earned runs. He walked three and fanned seven.

The Strouds managed six hits off two Nazareth pitchers, including two safeties each by Dick Gray and Ernie Howe.

Barrow had a 7-0 lead to work with after three innings. He allowed a lone run in the third, without giving the losers a hit in the frame and was touched for three runs in the fifth and a lone run in the seventh.

Paul Lim kicked off the first frame rally with a walk. Al Miller sacrificed Lim to second and Howe rapped a single to score him. Howe moved to second on the throw home.

A ground out moved Howe to third and Randy Morris followed a walk.

Howe and Morris worked the double steal with the league's leading base stealer sliding in under the throw to the plate.

John Brunner walked to keep the rally alive and Dick Gray ended the first frame scoring with a single to left, sending Morris and Brunner across the plate.

Howe's single in the second scored Lim, the only tally in the inning.

Lim turned into the RBI man in the third, punching a bases loaded single to score two runs.

The win, the second in a row for the Strouds, gives the locals their first back-to-back victories of the season.

Howard's Two Homers Pace Dodger Win

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rookie Frank Howard drove in four runs with two homers to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Sunday. Johnny Podres pitched seven hit balls as the Dodgers finished Lew Burdette in three innings and snapped his five game winning streak.

A crowd of 34,147, largest at County Stadium since opening day, saw the Dodgers take the rubber game of the three game series.

Howard's home runs were his eighth and ninth since being recalled from Spokane in mid-May, and his third and fourth against the Braves. He hit one off Burdette with two men on base in the third and the other off Don McMahon with the bases empty in the eighth.

Build Lead

The Dodgers built up a 5-0 lead with six hits off Burdette in the three innings he worked.

Podres encountered his first bit of difficulty in the fourth, when the Braves picked up two runs on Johnny Logan's double. Eddie Mathews' triple and Henry Aron's sacrifice fly.

The Braves pulled closer in the seventh with a run on successive singles by Joe Adcock, Mel Roach and Felix Mantilla.

Jockey Johnny Longden is in his 31st season as a race rider. His victories total more than 5,000.

Pocono Archers Romp

POCONO Archery Assn. put 15 shooters in the scoring column on its home range Sunday to score 85 points and moved to within 20 points of Tri-County Conference leading Bowmanstown.

The local archers won eight of the 11 divisions and finished 1-2-3 in the archer class.

Paul Daily posted the top score of the day, a 401 in capturing the Expert AA.

Easy Win

Jack Singer's 297 outdistanced the field in the bowman class, while Paul Ackerman nabbed the archer bracket.

The intermediate title went to Pocono's Don Metzgar, with teammate Brian Morris in second, nine points off the pace.

Wayne Daily, son of Paul Daily, captured the junior bracket with little difficulty.

Pace Ladies

Pocono archers also dominated the ladies' divisions. Winifred Hill won the bowman class, Pauline Stine, the archer title and Nellie Lee, the novice competition.

Twenty-point pins, for perfect scores on a single target, were awarded to William Dildine and Singer, both of the Pocono club.

Singer's point total also advanced him from bowman to Expert B division. Ackerman jumped divisions, moving from archer to bowman.

Nazareth Feature To Jersey Ace

BOBBY Malzahn of Kingsberry, N. J., defeated track champion Otto Harwi of Easton by half a car length to capture the 50-lap stock car feature at the Nazareth Fairgrounds Sunday.

Jim Delaney of Easton was third, with Ken Wismer, Riegelsville, fourth and Sonny Struett, Plainfield, N. J., fifth.

A crowd of 4,000 largest of the year was on hand.

The speed events at Nazareth continue Thursday with drag races, featuring 150 cars.

How good is par in the PGA Championship?

Good for third place and $2,400 in 1958, at Llanerch Country Club, Havertown, Pa. Good for fourth place and $2,500 in 1959, at Minneapolis Golf Club, St. Louis, Park, Minn.

Charley Conerly of the New York Giants ranks third in passing history of the National Football League with 1,308 completions and 158 touchdown passes.

Reds Slam Giants 10-4

CL. CINNATI (AP)—A barrage of 12 hits backed up Bob Purkey's pitching in the Cincinnati Reds' 10-4 victory over San Francisco Sunday.

Even Purkey, not rated as a slugger, got in on the assault, singling in two runs.

Aside from Orlando Cepeda's leadoff homer in the eighth, the Redding right-hander had little trouble scattering 11 Giant hits.

San Francisco put over one final score in the ninth on two singles and Willie Kirkland's double.

The Reds needed only three singles in the third inning to take a four-run jump.

Cresco Man Dies At 73 At Home

LAWRENCE Clifford Hardy, 73, Cresco, died at 10:30 p.m. Saturday at his home after an illness of three months.

A lifelong resident of Cresco, he was born there, the son of John W. and Mary Jane Everett Hardy. He was retired, having worked last for the Ronson Corp. He was a member of Mountainhome Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alveda Beck Hardy; four daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Romeis, Norristown; Mrs. Louise Pelella, Coral Gables, Fla.; Mrs. Joyce Marie Novak, Mt. Pocono; and Mrs. Sophie Irene Kesler, Gouldsboro; a son, Lawrence Douglas Hardy, Mt. Pocono; three sisters, Mrs. Katie Harrison, Bangor; Mrs. Charles Riesenwitz, Cresco; and Mrs. Lillian Englert, Cresco; a brother, Frank Hardy, Anamokim; 15 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services Wednesday

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Mountainhome Methodist Church. Rev. John Carter will officiate and burial will be in Oakland Cemetery, Mountainhome. Friends may call at the family residence at any time Tuesday. William H. Clark Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

2 Fires Hit Marshalls Creek Area

TWO FIRES, all within a relatively short period, struck the Marshalls Creek area on Saturday afternoon.

The Marshalls Creek Fire Co. was kept active on the first call from 2 to 3:45 p.m. and on the second from 5:30 to about 7:30.

The afternoon fire response was made to a wooded section of land adjacent to property owned by "H. Shingle" off Coolbaugh Road. Almost two acres of woodland were afire.

In the second call, the interior of a 5-room hunting cabin was destroyed. The building is a short distance from Lew Miller's property. No one was injured in the fire but damage was estimated to exceed $500.

Short Circuit — A fire company spokesman said an electrical short circuit was the cause. He reported that "a secondary ground wire shorted out."

The fire also resulted in temporarily curtailing telephone service in the immediate area.

After a resident, Archie Coffman, phoned in the alarm for the first fire, another resident had to travel ten miles to make a report on the second blaze.

The boy was reported to be Allan Reed's son, but his first name was not immediately known.

Firemen had to cut electrical service to the Miller home in the second fire as the flames were inching toward his house.

Section Of Route 611 Buckles, Lifts In Air

A SECTION of Route 611 on the south lane towards Stroudsburg buckled yesterday and lifted some eight or nine inches into the air. The section of road was about 8 feet long and ten to twelve feet wide. It snapped in the vicinity of Arlington Dinner.

A spokesman for the Department of Highways said "they don't know the cause at this time." The department barricaded the area and will make necessary repairs today.

Birth Of New Congo Nation

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP) — The birth of a new independent nation is due here Thursday and the baby still lacks a name. The Belgian Congo is attaining its freedom from Belgium and up to now the Congolese have not decided what to call their country.

Some suggest just "Congo," for the great river; some have suggested use of the old Portuguese name of the river, "Zaire," some suggested a changed spelling, to "Kongo."

One thing is certain: it won't be "Belgian Congo."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Freedman, Mate Cop Bridge Title

MT. POCONO — Harry Freedman, Columbia, N.J., and his partner won top honors in the special section of the Lehigh Valley Bridge Tournament at High Point Inn, Friday, Saturday and yesterday.

Freedman and his mate, Herman Simon, Philadelphia, posted a 171 points to walk off with first place in their category. Approximately 300 players took in the three-day bridge session.

Freedman, a resort owner along the Delaware River in the Garden State, heads a class of bridge and beginners classes at the Monroe County YMCA.

Directing this year's LV tournament was Howard Foring of Bethlehem.

War II Captive Is Not Bitter

CODRON, England (AP) — An Anglican vicar who once worked on the Burma "railroad of death" as a prisoner of the Japanese, Sunday introduced a new curate to his congregation—a Japanese.

The Rev. William Paul Miller presented The Rev. John Kanoh as his assistant. Kanoh and his family came from Hiroshima. "I am sure you will welcome our new curate as you would any other Christian minister," said The Rev. Mr. Miller. "I certainly feel no bitterness toward my captors. I see no reason why anyone should feel any antagonism toward the Japanese."

The vicar was an army corporal when he was captured. He worked on the railroad where 61,000 prisoners died. Kanoh was a schoolboy during the war.

Prices Hit All-Time High

CONSUMER prices in Scranton reached an all-time high between February and May 1960, increasing 0.6 percent to 122.1, Louis F. Buckley, regional director of the U. S. Dept. of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics announced yesterday.

Increases of 25 percent for food, 2.0 percent for apparel, 0.1 percent for medical care, and 1.0 percent for other goods and services offset decreases in housing, transportation, and personal care.

Since May 1959 all major groups have increased with the all-item index showing a 1.8 percent increase. The apparel, medical care, reading and recreation, other goods and services groups, and rents rose to new all-time highs.

Four Airmen Perish In Crash

PALMA DE MAJORCA, Balearic Islands (AP) — Four airmen, two Americans and two Germans perished in the crash of their two training planes, officials of San Juan air base here said Sunday.

The planes hit a mountain near the village of Lanch, 25 miles northwest of this Mediterranean island city. They left Erdingen training base in Germany for San Juan Saturday afternoon.

One plane was flown by Capt. Charles S. Melton, 34, and Capt. Roger P. Miller, 32, members of the U.S. Military Advisory Assistance Group set up to help train German officers.

The Pentagon in Washington listed Melton's next of kin as his widow, Ruth, at Erdingen air base and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis J. Melton of Mesa, Ariz. Miller's next of kin were listed as his widow, Shirley, at Erdingen and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Miller of East Hampton, N.Y. Aboard the other plane were West German pilots Lt. Ludwig Seseke and Capt. Kurt Tanzer.

For summer protection keep it full

When tanks are left empty or half-empty through the long summer months, trouble can develop. Condensation takes place, rust particles can clog burner nozzles. Don't take any chances. Let us fill your tank—RIGHT NOW—and we'll fill it with Atlantic's famous triple-refined heating oil. It contains a new additive that helps keep down formation of sludge. Please call or write us today.
